

Valuable Clinical Tools for Complex Organizations

Together We Can

- * Save you time and money
- * Maximize P4P opportunities
- * Increase per patient revenue
- * Improve quality healthcare
- * Enhance the value you provide members
- * Provide decision support at the point-of-care
- * Easily measure & report

“What sets DocSite apart is its ease of use and flexibility. We have been able to develop clinical reminders and tracking for guidelines that relate to lifecycle care, prevention AS WELL AS chronic care. Our providers are now thinking of it as a mini-medical record.”

- Craig Law, CEO
Delaware Health Net

Effective solutions at an affordable price

Provider organizations feel extreme pressure from payers, physicians and patients to increase the value of every healthcare dollar spent without reducing quality, compensation or access to care. Whether you are starting a clinical integration program, a quality-based compensation initiative or simply trying to provide your members valuable clinical decision support tools, DocSite Enterprise™ can help.

DocSite Enterprise integrates easily with in-patient and ambulatory Health IT systems, and serves as a clinical information ombudsman for those needing access to relevant patient information at the point-of-care.

Make IT Relevant

Physicians constantly hear about upcoming changes in compensation and feel pressured to practice “check-the-box medicine.” They already provide high quality patient care, but need clinical tools that are easy to use, provide immediate value to their practice and help them get paid for the work they do. DocSite Enterprise gives physicians the tools they need while making it easy for you to establish common clinical standards across the organization.

Bring IT Together

CEOs and CIOs starting clinical integration or quality-focused programs must unify offices using the latest Health IT systems with those still using paper charts. Not an easy challenge to address. DocSite can help.

DocSite Enterprise integrates easily with both in-patient and ambulatory Health IT systems, and provides an ombudsman of patient information for those needing access to relevant clinical data at the point-of-care. Additionally, DocSite Enterprise delivers immediate value to your members in both electronic and paper environments.

Get IT Done

DocSite Enterprise provides the clinical tools your physicians want and the systems integration features you need, but technology alone will never create clinical integration or quality-focused care. Care focused and quality driven, DocSite’s Account Services Team brings years of real world clinical experience to your implementation. Our consultants focus on bridging technology features to clinical results.
